Bid sets are not engineered plans. Most jurisdictions require an engineer's stamp prior to pulling permits. The builder is responsible for using the drawings to submit for manufacturer's designs of floor and roof truss systems. In most instances, these designs shall be received and included with the drawings submitted to the structural engineer.

All plans are drawn to meet current NC Residential Building Codes. Plans can be customized for specific locations or to make changes to the design. All changes will be billed at a rate of $75/hr.
